

ALFIYA GLOW

As we enter a new decade, music and technology have merged. However, the cry for raw, intricate, and powerful instrumentation is back and stronger than ever. Award-winning electric violinist, EDM producer, and DJ, Alfiya Glow, is the hat trick music fans have been waiting for. At age 20, moved overseas to attend Temple University's Boyer College of Music and Dance in Philadelphia, PA, and was awarded a full scholarship designated for musicians who showcase extraordinary ability. Combining her tried-and-tested talents as a female DJ, music producer, and electric violinist, she went on to release a number of original EDM house music tracks, mashup and bootleg packs, and remixes. Alfiya was noticed by two well-known producers in the industry: Larry Gold and Kenny Lloyd. Her collaborations with these producers on several major records for artists, including R. Kelly, Lana Del Rey, and Boyz II Men, ultimately propelled her expansion into new genres, namely pop, hip-hop, and EDM. Alfiya Glow has opened for international headlining artists including Lisa Lashes, The Disco Fries, Michael Brun, Marcus Schossow, Sebjak, Kenneth G, Indian Summer, W&W, and Bassjacks. She thoughtfully and carefully crafts songs and mixes that not only get crowds moving, but stir the heart and soul in a way only live instrument-backed production can.

Alfiya Glow dropped the official music video for her song, "Broken" and we're blown away.
